If by this

BOOK

we can help the student body realize the value and advantages of having a goal

in life, the Echo has achieved its purpose.

To those challenging goals

never quite attainable yet always compelling the courage and fortitude of those who seek them, we dedicate this book.

BOOK ONE —

Instructively

employed

The path to the administrators' goal is built by love and sympathy as well as by the instructing of the students under their guidance.

The Echo

I recently heard of four boys who set out with a car and a reasonable allowance of expense money to spend a month in traveling about the country. They decided to determine their route from day to day, in other words, to drive from place to place as they heard of points of interest. A neighbor remarked when they returned that it was a very interesting way to spend a month. One of the more thoughtful boys in the party replied, "We didn't really go any place, and you know I don't believe you can go any place, at least not very often, without first knowing where you want to go."

I believe that life is much like the boy's estimate of a trip. We need objectives or goals and then we must work to try to accomplish them. I believe, in planning our lives, that we must include goals in such fields as work, home life, recreation, spiritual outlets and study. Once we have recognized certain objectives or goals as representing our hopes for life, then we are able to bend our energies to the fullest realization of these hopes.

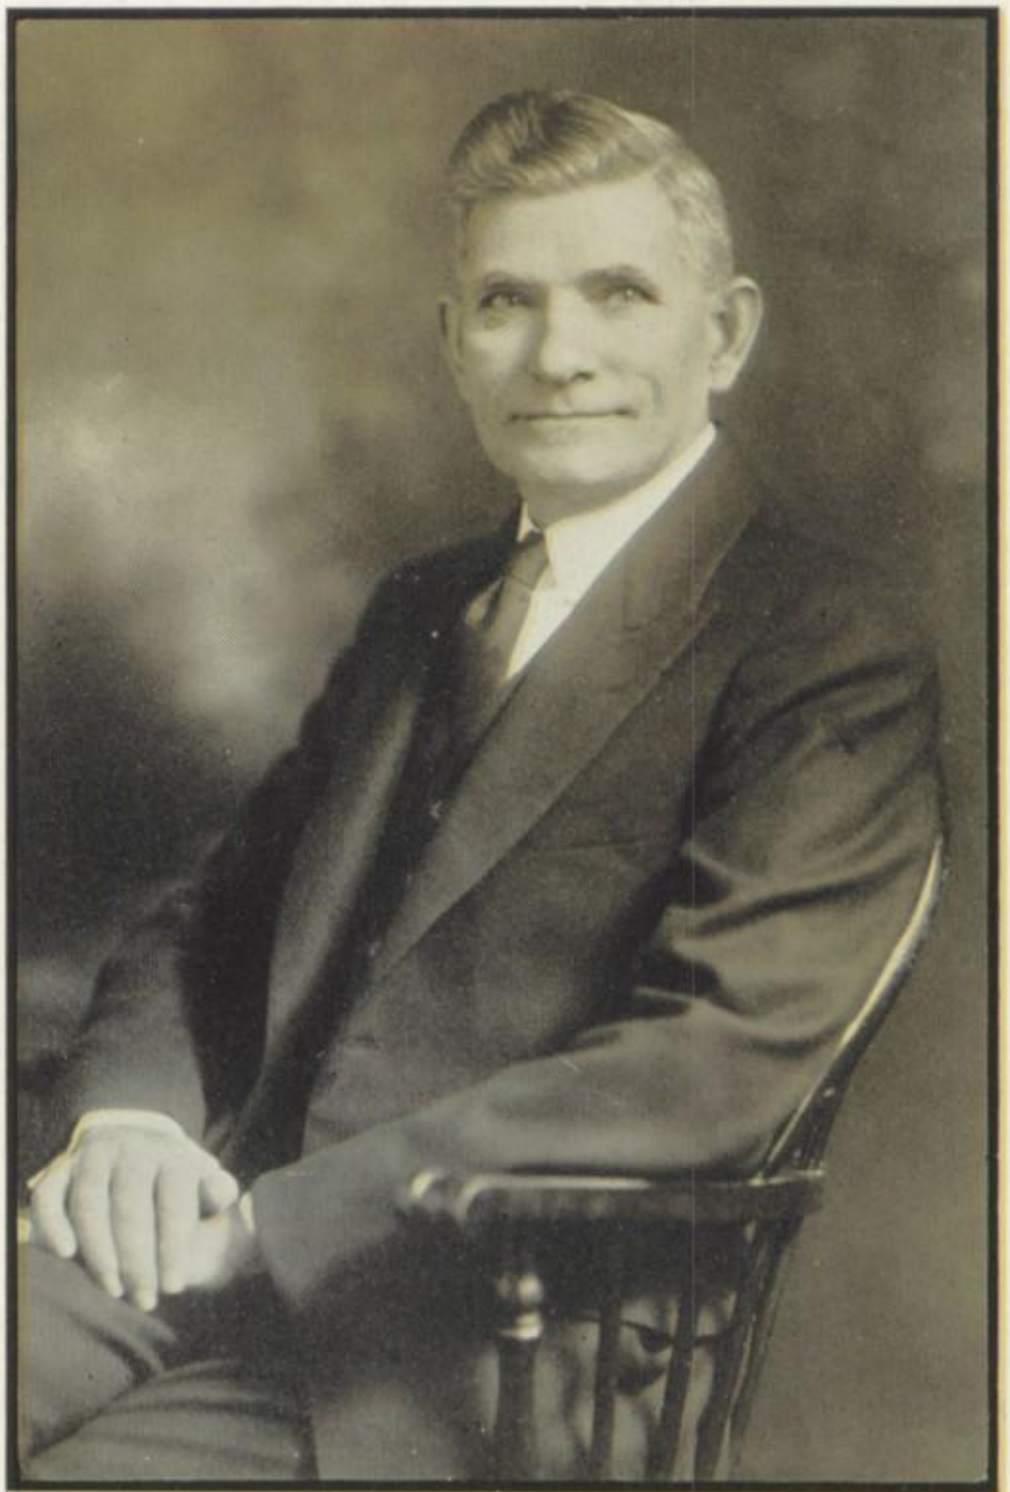

*Willard E. Goslin,
Superintendent of Schools.*

Goals or objectives are valuable for everyone but especially desirable for high school students. Each pupil should know what his life work is to be as early as possible so that his preparation may be economically directed.

Classroom work together with prognostic and aptitude tests aid the student in formulating his objectives. He finds he has no interest in certain subjects while others challenge him and develop a desire to work that almost insures success. In high school the scope of his choices must not be too narrow as a broad foundation should be laid, upon which the structure of his special interests may be built.

Extra-curricular experiences may be very important in directing certain trends toward the formation of goals. In these experiences the student assumes more responsibility, learns to work with others, and if properly directed develops qualities that best fit him for citizenship in a democratic society. In forming his goals, the high school student should not be too hasty or too certain of his own ability; but view questions from all sides and listen to advice before making a final decision. Goals thus formed will be of great advantage.

Senior Governing Body

The senior class, following the plan of preceding senior classes, decided to have a Senior Governing Body, which was made up of three committees: senior day, ring and invitation, and social. Each committee was composed of one representative from each senior conference room.

The Social Committee made arrangements for several dances, and the first one was held in the early fall. An afternoon dance was given on St. Patrick's Day, and the Senior Prom was planned for June 3rd, the date of which was determined by a vote of the senior class.

The Ring Committee took orders for and distributed the senior jewelry and graduation announcements.

The Senior Class Day was written and planned by the Senior Day Committee.

In order for an idea to be brought before any of the committees, it had to be given to one of the conference room representatives and then brought before a combined meeting of the three committees which compiled all the necessary information concerning the idea. The idea was then presented to the senior class for their approval or rejection.

The success of the senior class can be attributed greatly to the excellent work of the Senior Governing Body.

Cooperation has been displayed throughout the year by the mid-senior class. In all their activities they have worked together, striving to do their best.

Although the members of this class do not have the distinction of being full-fledged seniors, these mid-seniors gained recognition in all phases of school life.

In the early fall they gave a candy sale in which all the students participated by making the candy and wrapping or selling it.

Enough money was raised to enable them to give a Hallowe'en dance, the Big Pumpkin. The proper atmosphere was created in the senior girls' gym by orange and black crepe paper streamers, skeletons and corn shocks. Jim Hogan's Orchestra played "On, On, Webster" as a feature of the dance.

Working under the direction of Wempner Armstrong, head of the dance committee, were Barbara Ramsay, who was in charge of decorations; Paul Brackman, head of the arrangements committee; Emerson Foote, who procured the orchestra, and Gloria Wessel, who took charge of the refreshments.

The mid-senior boys were active in all sports. In November the boys of Miss Jones' conference room challenged and defeated Mr. Gall's conference group by a score of 14 to 7.

William Akers, Wempner Armstrong, Paul Brackman, Emerson Foote, Bob McMath, and Vernon Sudfeld earned minor letters playing on the football team.

The basket ball lettermen were Armstrong, Brackman, and Sudfeld. Those who did not make the varsity squad played on the inter-mural teams. Brackman also played catch regularly on the baseball nine.

The girls, not to be outdone by the boys, participated not only in basket ball, but also played on the hockey and volley ball teams. On the junior basket ball team were Jeanburl Dorsey, Sarah Kaufman, Virginia Mattox, Mary Trefts and Gloria Wessel. Because of her outstanding playing, Virginia Mattox made the varsity team.

In almost every club in high school some of these ambitious mid-seniors can be found working industriously. Many are members of one of the a cappella choirs, the band, orchestra, dramatics, and Webster Echo. During the latter part of May this group held a picnic at Forest Park to end a most successful year.

The junior class elected its officers soon after school started last September. Soon, in every phase of school life there was found a representative number of juniors.

One of the main social events of the year was the "Junior Icicle," held on January 21st in the senior girls' gym. The success of the affair was due largely to the following committees: Bud Van Tassell, decorations; Bill Hinson and Charles Grisham, advertising; Harry Hilleary, tickets, and Bob Gates, orchestra. Since the basket ball team won its game that night, the members of the team were admitted free to dance among the blue and white decorations and to the music of Art Kruth's orchestra.

Later in the year an afternoon dance was held. As in past years the Echo selected members from this class to serve as ushers at Coronation of the Echo Queen on April 1st. In May the juniors presented a very lovely prom in honor of the senior class.

On the athletic field there were a great number of participants. Next year's co-captains, Joe Fillo and Bill Hinson, along with Jim Sears, Harry Hilleary, and Hugo Goerner played an enthusiastic game this year. Bill Hinson and Harry Hilleary were outstanding regulars on the basket ball varsity squad as well.

Among the girls, also, there was great interest in sports. Outstanding in the field of hockey were Audrey Doerle, Helen Garner, Audrey Anderson, Doris Wolf, Jeanburl Dorsey, and Sarah Kaufman—all of whom made the varsity squad.

Twelve members of the class were picked for the junior basketball team. The forwards were Audrey Anderson, Jean Blough, Audrey Doerle, Jean Langley, Mary Trefts, and Doris Wolf; guards: Dorothy Busch, Jeanburl Dorsey, Sarah Kaufman, Virginia Mattox, Eleanor Miller, and Gloria Wessel. Audrey Anderson also earned a position on the varsity.

In the music department members of this class displayed their talents. Several members were chosen for the advanced A Cappella choir, and the beginning choir draws most of its members from this class.

Debating and public speaking also held an interest for James Jennings and Robert McKelvey.

Although the class has taken great interest in social affairs, music, and sports, still it has maintained its scholastic standing as is shown by the fact that nine students were inducted into the Torch.

The mid-Juniors, a group very active in school life, were especially outstanding in sports. Last fall, Bill Barts, Cubby Woodward, and Gordon Crewes played on the reserve football squad, while Eugene Ballard, Fred Berthold, and Bill Chapman participated on the "B" team.

During the cage season six members of this class played on the sophomore basket ball team. They were Fred Berthold, Eugene Ballard, Bill Barts, Bill Chapman, Bert Imse, and Cubby Woodward. At the end of the basket ball season two inter-homeroom games were played. In one game the boys of Mr. MacDonald's and Miss Bromley's homerooms combined to make a strong team which defeated Mr. Havenor's quintet in a close game. The final score was 18 to 16. Their loss was avenged, however, when Mr. Havenor's girls' team outplayed and outpointed the MacDonald-Bromley combination.

Two roller skating parties were sponsored by the mid-juniors—one in October and one in February. With the money raised by these they gave a dance on March 18 which was appropriately called the "Jamrock."

Early in the school year the sophomore class elected its officers and started to show the upper school that a wide-awake group had entered into its activities. They were ready to take advantage of the many educational and social opportunities open to them. During the year this class was the largest one in school and perhaps the most enthusiastic.

Take, first, the regular curriculum. The only required subject is English. As far as the rest of the program is concerned the student is expected to plan his course of study according to his own desires and the requirements of the college or professional school he has chosen. As a general rule, either algebra or plane geometry and one of the four languages, Latin, French, Spanish, and German, are included in the year's study. Training in commercial courses is open to future secretaries. Those interested in music may enroll in the boys' and girls' glee clubs or in the orchestra and band. Other studies from which a choice may be made are: biology, modern history, art, clothing, foods, dramatics, and physical education.

For further study and enjoyment of a language, the students may join the club associated with the foreign language they have chosen. Although all the clubs have a representative number of members of the sophomore group, about two-thirds of the membership of the Latin Club, Conventus Latinus, was drawn from this class.

Judging from the number of participants, we find this versatile class had a great interest in the field of sports; John Brien, Charles Forsythe, and Jack Holt represented their class well in football. Then in basket ball we again found both John Brien and Charles Forsythe.

The girls, too, showed a keen interest and enthusiasm in hockey and basket ball. The sophomore hockey team was comprised of twenty members. Perhaps the most outstanding player for the team was Virginia Parker, the goalie. Betty Hiatt filled the position of left wing on the varsity.

The class basket ball team won all of its games from the other schools. Shirley Chase, Dorothy Davis, Betty Dixon, Mary Jane Flesh, Ann Gamble, Lorraine Knupp, Mary Muir, Peggy Reichardt, Mariluise Rozier, and Martha Wright were the players to whom this success is due. Betty Dixon and Ann Gamble, guards, also played on the varsity.

Many girls who wished to lend their support to the school became members of the pep club, while a large number of the boys joined the Soph-Y, a branch of the Hi-Y.

One ambitious member of this class succeeded in gaining membership in the National Forensic League, an honorary organization for outstanding debaters and public speakers. Students are usually not admitted until their junior or senior year because so many public appearances are required for membership. Taylor Boggs, however, gained this honor by his work both in original oratory and debate. James Prichard and Gloria Bader did commendable work in the field of historical declamation.

On February 10th the sophomores gave a no-date afternoon dance for grades nine through twelve. A small admission was charged to everyone except those sophomores who had paid their dues.

Mid-Sophomores

The mid-sophomore students entered the upper school in February. No event in their school careers has been quite so important, for entering the senior school means the beginning of a new life. The time to which they have looked forward for so long, the time when they would be able to share in the activities of the senior school and be considered a part of the upper school life, had finally come. Their three new home-room sponsors were Miss Bailey, Miss Goldman, and Miss Vossbrink.

Many of the mid-sophomore boys played on the "B" and "C" football teams and on the freshman basketball team. Don Katowsky played right field on the baseball nine, and Tom Mullen and Jack Overman filled the third base position.

The 10-B student must become accustomed to new studies which are offered in the high school,—subjects such as biology, plane geometry, American history, and modern history. English is a required subject. The tenth grade pupils may continue with their language studies for two or three years. After taking algebra I and II, the students who wished to learn more about the subject took sophomore algebra.

Other subjects which they chose were foods, clothing, the commercial subjects, art, instrumental and vocal music, industrial arts, and physical education.

Lower School Monitors
Junior Honor Society
Scribblers

Although in many schools the freshman is rather the "goat"; here at Webster there is no more respected person in the junior school than he. The seventh and eighth graders look up to him as an example and leader.

Upon entering the ninth grade each student, with the aid of his parents and Mr. Aldrich, plans a general course of study for his high school years. For the first time he is given a rather wide choice of what he wants to study and do. The electives from which he may make a choice are: Orchestra, band, glee club, French, Latin, Spanish, German, foods, clothing, business practice, ancient history, social science, and manual training. The only required subjects are English and algebra.

A number of freshman boys were Lower School Monitors, whose duty it was to check any disorder in the hall. Twenty-nine members of the class were taken into the membership of the Junior Honor Society, a national organization,—the student being judged on the basis of his character, leadership, scholarship, and service to the school before he was admitted into the organization.

Scholastically the 9B students rank very high. In March the largest group ever to be inducted into the Junior Honor Society was chosen from this group.

Their interest in school affairs was very evident. One of the members of this class, John Gable, was elected president of the lower school. The monitor staff, which contains more than one hundred members, was composed largely of boys from the 9B class. Their service was instrumental in making the junior school a better place for the students.

These boys took their athletics seriously, also, for Miss Hamaker's conference room carried off top honors in the ninth-grade basketball tournament after defeating all of their opponents.

The 9B students were allowed to choose all their subjects except English for the first time at the beginning of the second semester this year, when they ventured into the real beginning of their high school careers. The "solid" subjects from which ninth grade students may choose are Spanish, French, German, Latin, algebra, general mathematics, social science, and ancient history. The wide range of electives includes art, music, foods, clothing, business practice, and manual training.

Although the 8A class was the smallest of the regular semester classes, still it consisted of five active conference rooms. There was a friendly spirit of rivalry among them for each desired to win the exciting basket ball tournament. The girls took part in various athletic activities, including basket ball, volley ball, and baseball. Both boys and girls lent their loyal support to the varsity teams by attending the games and cheering enthusiastically.

When a student reaches his second year in junior high, he is given a choice of two electives. To those who enjoy foreign languages a course is offered for a semester in which time a student becomes acquainted with Latin, French, Spanish, and German. For a pupil who desires to study Latin, there is a preparatory course which he is required to have if he continues the subject. Band, orchestra, glee club, dramatics, manual training, and general business science are others from which a choice may be made. Each student was required to take mathematics, English, general science and social science.

One member of this class had spent a year abroad and attended school in Germany for a short time. At each meeting Marion Schneider told the Scribblers a few of her interesting experiences.

"TEN MINUTES BY THE CLOCK"—A Play POETRY FESTIVAL

The 8B's began their activities in the fall with great enthusiasm, making the most of their opportunities, for they had become thoroughly acquainted with junior high school life in the preceding spring. Officers were elected in each of the three conference rooms, Mr. Hicks's, Mrs. Latowsky's and Mr. Case's.

Although there were no meetings of the class as a whole, the individual conference rooms often had programs or business meetings, which were usually held on Friday or whenever any matter of importance came up. On the other four days of the school week the conference periods were reserved for studying lessons or for reading.

Mr. Case's conference room basket ball team shared first place with Mr. Hicks's five in the eighth-grade basket ball tournament. Each team won six of their games, but both quintets dropped one decision.

All these 8B students were required to take the English, mathematics, general science, and social science courses. They also took gym and reading, alternate courses. Each was allowed to choose one of the following electives: general language, a business course, dramatics, vocal or instrumental music, manual training, and mechanical drawing.

THREE PLAYS:

"Two Slatterns and a King"

"Three Pills in a Bottle"

"Joint Owners in Spain"

The 7A class which entered high school in September, '38, displayed from the start its interest in the activities and life of the school. To the seventh grader the jump from grade school to junior high is quite an important, yet strange, experience. The student has to acquaint himself with new teachers, associates, building, studies, and grading system. Then, too, he finds that he is the smallest member in a very large group where before he was the important one. But these boys and girls, though a little bewildered at first, readily adjusted themselves, and now they are first-class "Websterites."

The class had six conference room sections which competed against one another in a basket ball tournament. The girls played in inter-mural basket ball and volley ball tournaments throughout the year. In the last few years the seventh grader has been allowed to take part in a number of clubs, and several dramatic productions were presented by the group.

As in all junior high school classes certain studies were required: mathematics, English, social science, reading, and gymnasium. In addition they were allowed one elective—a choice of speech, citizenship, sewing, cooking, art, and manual training.

The Torch is the Webster Groves chapter of the National Honor Society. To be eligible for membership a student must have been in the upper third of the 11A, 12B, or 12A class. The students were then chosen by the faculty on the basis of outstanding merit in character, leadership, and service. New members were initiated in the organization before Christmas and late in the spring.

The purpose of the organization was a definite one. It encouraged the enthusiasm for scholarship, promoted service, stimulated leadership, and aided in building character.

This year the society held meetings twice every month with varied programs. Speakers were invited and problems of the school were discussed. The idea of an assembly committee of two representatives from each class grew out of these discussions.

As a result of their interest in social service, the Torch gave a picnic for fifteen under-privileged children from the Kingdom House in St. Louis. Plans were made to have it in the park, but due to rain it was held in the girls' gymnasium. After luncheon had been served, many games were played by the children and also by the members.

The National Junior Honor Society, established in 1929, was only a year old when the Webster Groves Chapter was organized for the purpose of creating an incentive toward higher scholarship and a greater development of the character of students. The members of this organization are the leaders of the student body and serve as an example to the rest of the school.

At the beginning of the year the business of the society was carried on by the six remaining members—Bill Allen, Willard Brien, Nancy McKaig, Alice Paschen, Helen Reader, and Nancy Winfrey.

On November 8th a beautiful induction ceremony in the Little Theatre brought in twenty-nine new members. Afterwards refreshments were served for parents and friends. Later there was a party of these new members.

The society carried out many useful projects, one of these was serving as tutors for backward students. Students were grateful for the noon-period study under the supervision of society members in the junior school library.

During the second semester, a party was given for the newly inducted members. Then plans were made for a lower school dance, the proceeds of which went to some service for the school.

MISS BRANTLEY

During the past three years traffic conditions in the lower school have been greatly improved. Along with this change has come an improvement in the disposition of the teachers. The reason for this is the organization by Miss Brantley and Mr. Latta of the Lower School Monitors, who have eagerly and capably taken over the job of "policing" the junior school.

In the years before the monitor system was established, the chaos in the halls between classes and at noon was such that it was not humanly possible for the teachers to cope with the situation. This group of one hundred and fifteen boys do their best to keep the halls clear, to prevent accidents, and to keep the lunch room orderly.

This year the boys have become more organized than ever before by the adoption of a code and identifying armbands.

In addition to the monitors themselves, there were half a dozen girls who assisted with the clerical work. Records were kept of all reports turned in and were given weekly to homeroom teachers. Altogether, the monitor system served its purpose adequately, and in addition helped to build character.

The Student Council expresses the wishes and desires of the students. Its purpose, as the constitution states, is to give the students an opportunity for participation in the government of the school and to promote co-operation between the pupils and faculty. As is customary, the president of both schools and president of the upper school automatically become the two main officers in the council. The body of the Student Council is made up of representatives elected by the students from each conference group.

They began their activities by sponsoring the student activity ticket, and through posters, several assemblies, and a special edition of The Echo, their campaign proved successful. During the year, special committees worked on the student handbook in an attempt to perfect it for publication. During February, the Council gave an evening dance to cover the cost of the printing of the book. The constitution of the organization was printed in several issues of The Echo in order to acquaint everyone with the purpose of the organization. Once again the Student Council proved to be one of the more active organizations in the school.

The National Thespians is an honorary organization for students in advanced dramatics classes who have displayed unusual ability in dramatics. There are three basic qualifications for election into the Thespians and any one of them is sufficient for membership; first, a lead or two minor parts in a play; second, being a member of the stage crew, and finally those holding major positions on the business staff.

This year the club initiated many new members. They held two separate initiations in order to give participants in later plays a chance to join. Each initiate gave a dramatic reading or recitation before the club. Membership entitled one to a subscription to the National Thespian Magazine which prints news of general interest. In the Magazine appeared several pictures of current Little Theatre Productions. The organization held no regular meetings since the presentation of plays was their main activity and it met only to elect officers and to initiate new members. This year the club is to be especially complimented for, with the aid of Mr. Wood, it has given Webster a number of notable plays.

The Quill and Scroll is the international honor society for students of outstanding journalistic ability. The members are chosen from the Echo and Webster Echo staffs. They must rank in the upper third of their class; they must be a member of the junior or senior class; they must be recommended by the sponsor of the publication; and last, they must be approved by the national secretary-treasurer of Quill and Scroll.

At the first of the year there was only one member in the organization, but in March 16 new members were elected. At that time the new members were informed that the purpose of the Quill and Scroll is "to instill in students the ideal of scholarship; to advance the standards of the profession of journalism by developing better journalists and by inculcating a higher code of ethics; to promote exact and dispassionate thinking, clear and forceful writing."

One of the main accomplishments of the organization was the editing of the "Challenge" which was published in May. This is a magazine with creative writings collected from all of the English teachers.

The Webster High Little Theater has long been noted for its excellent plays, especially for its beautiful and practical sets. Few people realize the amount of work that must be done before a play is ready to be shown, for the actors are merely one phase of it.

The management of all business affairs was carried on by the students. It was the duty of the business manager and his assistants to see that the door receipts tallied, and that the selling of tickets was managed efficiently. The house manager had charge of the printing and distribution of tickets and programs and was responsible to the business manager for reports. The property manager had one of the most difficult jobs, that of creating or collecting props and to see that they were returned.

The stage crew was one of the most important divisions of the production staff. Under the direction of Mr. Zemitsch, an alumnus, the crew constructed sets two evenings a week. Over all these workers was the stage manager whose duty it was to see that the various people on the staff had completed their assignments.

Forensic League and Debate

McKelvey, Newman, Mr. Ogle
Boggs, Dinsmoor, Jennings, Rhodes
Schoene, Woodward, Blair, Nystrom, Martin

The N. F. L., known to the uninitiated as the National Forensic League, is the goal of every high school debater, for it is the honorary organization for participants in public speaking. The entrance requirements for the Webster Groves chapter that the applicant must live up to are: he must be in the upper two-thirds of his class; he must have obtained at least 25 points; and his application for membership must be signed by the national secretary, the chapter president, and the principal of the school.

This year the question for debate was "Resolved: that the United States should establish an alliance with Great Britain." In debating this question, Webster representatives have travelled all over Missouri and several other states. Webster won all its district debates, defeating the following high schools: Jennings, Eureka, Brentwood, and Hancock. On February 3 and 4, the Webster Groves chapter sponsored a National Forensic League tournament attended by teams from all over Missouri and Illinois.

Something new this year were the Forums sponsored by this chapter. Everyone was welcome at these discussions of questions of public interest, and the chapter hoped to make these forums become a community tradition.

The Echo is truly what its name connotes. It echoes the spirit of the school in each of its aspects thus striving to promote high ideals among the students. On the average of once every two weeks the school-wide bustling and excitement may be attributed to the appearance of the paper. There are sixteen regular editions with intermittent special editions.

Many innovations have been introduced by this year's staff, the chief one being the streamline characteristic. Although the conservative make-up has been abandoned, the equivalent of one column has been added in width and two and one-half inches in length. The promotion of three special features, the interview, the human interest story, and the letters to the editor section, have been added; and the system of developing writers in the news writing class has been developed.

The Echo staff confines itself not to newspaper work alone but participates in several outside activities.

Dunwoody, Woodward, Reinhart, Choate, Lishen, Haddaway, Ellison, Higgins, Owen

After a subscription drive that proved successful, the Annual Staff began outlining the major divisions of the yearbook, and the business staff started a campaign for advertising. As the year went on, they began to accomplish the more specific tasks, such as securing and filing of contracts, the arrangement of features, senior pictures, clubs and other group pictures. In order to add uniformity and consistency to the pictures of the senior girls it was decided that all the girls wear white sweaters when their pictures were taken, and the majority of senior girls complied with this wish.

Their first money-making project was an after school dance and a pie-eating contest. Next, staff members sold candy at all the home football and basket ball games. The sale of Turkey Day buttons was greatly stimulated by offering a prize to the student selling the most buttons within a required length of time. Next, a magic show, with Hendricks the magician as chief performer, was given. Then, late in the spring, the yearly amateur show was presented.

The Annual gave several parties during the year, one a Christmas buffet supper at Kathryn Graf's, and another on Valentine's Day.

When an audience of parents and friends gathered in the auditorium on Saturday evening, April 1st, the coronation of the eighteenth Echo Annual Queen took place. Members of the junior and mid-junior classes acted as ushers. Following traditional custom the members of the senior class selected eighteen girls as members of the court. Next they selected the six special maids, and, finally, the whole upper school elected the queen from these six girls. All court members must rank in the upper two-thirds of their class and participate in several extra-curricular activities. The eighteen girls selected for the court were: June Brocksmith, Sue Broeder, Mary Clark, Mary Jane Crump, Doreen Dunwoody, Grace Egen, Enid Ellison, Kathryn Graf, Joy Hackmann, Eunice Haddaway, Betty Higgins, Harriett Lloyd, Betty Nyström, Alyce Oliver, Jean Richardson, Mary Tillay, Jean Wenzlick, and Barbara Wright.

The herald, Gregory Rinehart, first summoned the twelve maids and their escorts to the throne. Then the retiring queen, Miss Marjorie Johanning, escorted by John McCarthy, ascended the throne. The herald then summoned, as crownbearer, little Miss Nancy Hixson. One by one, the special maids were escorted down the aisle, made their curtsies, and took their places on either side of the throne. As the editor called upon the crownbearer to lead the queen-elect to the throne, the retiring queen relinquished her crown to the new queen. The audience burst into applause to greet the 1939 Echo Queen, Miss Harriett Lloyd.

The queen's dress was of pink despris and she carried a bouquet of corresponding pink roses. The retiring queen wore white mussoliene de soi and carried American Beauty roses. The remainder of the court, as well as the girl ushers, wore pastel formals. The arrangement of colors was such that it made the coronation a beautiful spectacle.

There were over sixty members in this year's French Club, whose purpose it was to learn better conversational French and to practice it. All business meetings and social functions were carried on in French as much as possible. Games, spelling bees, and plays also helped to increase interest in spoken French. Meetings were held on alternate Tuesday afternoons, and the minutes were written in French.

The first meeting was devoted to the making of plans for the year. Officers were elected, the initiation was planned, and entrance requirements were decided.

The next activity of the club was the formal initiation of new members, who numbered about fifty. The initiates were divided into groups to perform stunts, and then their initiation was ended by the presentation of a small paper French flag to each.

At a later meeting held in Forest Park, all present enjoyed a treasure hunt and wiener roast. Alfred Fingulin spoke about his trip to France last summer, and Margaret Neale told the club about schools in Canada.

Three unexcused absences excluded a person from membership, and small annual dues were charged to cover the cost of business, parties, and incidental expenses.

This was an encouraging year for the French paper, La Feuille Volante, which is now four years old, and is established as a full-fledged newspaper of three pages—and sometimes more. The staff was headed this year by Mary Catherine Guild as editor.

The fluttering leaves of La Feuille Volante, written entirely in French, appeared once a month. The headings represented a scene typical of the month of publication. The first and second pages were given over to articles on current events or to important anniversaries of that season.

The last page was made into a feature section and was found to be very popular with the readers. Another added feature this year was a continued story.

The month between publications may have seemed long to waiting subscribers, but not so to the staff. First, appropriate articles for the issue were planned in a huddle of editor and sponsor, Miss Woods. Then the articles were assigned to the reporters to prepare. The typists arranged the material for a neat appearance and typed each article. Mimeographing and assembling of the sheets completed the process. Then La Feuille Volante was ready for distribution to eager French students.

The Latin Club is one of the best organized and most active clubs in the school. Its activities do not pertain solely to Latin, since in the last year the club held several joint meetings with other clubs for programs of mutual interest.

Because of the large enrollment, which passed 90 this year, the club was divided into three groups. The Senators have taken or were taking Vergil; the Knights were taking or have completed a year of Cicero; the Plebeians were either fighting Caesar's Gallic Wars or had won them all.

Latin Club meetings were held after school on every other Tuesday, alternating with the Spanish, French, and German clubs because of mutual membership. At this time many varied and interesting programs were given.

The first meeting on October 4 was devoted to the election of officers. On October 14 a joint meeting with the French Club was held in the auditorium. At this time, Francis Schaedler, 4-H Club member of Eureka, Missouri, talked about the club; and Pat Woodward, also a 4-H Club member, told about her week's stay in Columbia at the State 4-H Club Round-up this summer.

Mr. Hixson gave a talk about his trip through the West last summer, giving details about Yellowstone, Salt Lake City, and Colorado Springs and answering questions asked by the audience. It was also suggested and decided that the club should become a member of the Junior Classical League.

The Christmas party, held in the lunch room, was highly successful; there were refreshments, entertainment, and group singing. Another party was held on Valentine's Day in Room 117. As the president drew the valentines from the decorated box, Margaret Alderson and Betty Ann Kaiser gave them out. Refreshments were suckers in the shape of hearts.

Another interesting program was given on January 17 by Tom Curtis, a former Latin Club member. He spoke about the advantages of Latin in education, pointing out the fact that Latin is an excellent background for the study of modern languages, law, and science.

Other activities were a debate, parties, a day of charades, and entries in the Latin contests at Washington University. At Christmas time the club collected over forty dollars, which amount was given to the Farmington orphanage.

In the thirteenth year of Latinus Rumor there were close to 400 subscriptions, thanks to the extensive campaigning carried on in the Latin classes by the business manager, Doreen Dunwoody, and her assistants, Betty Knetzger and Pricilla Alden.

Latinus Rumor consisted of one long sheet mimeographed on both sides. The top of the first page was taken up by the attractive headings, corresponding to some event in each month, and they were drawn by Bill Connor.

After many conferences with Miss Farmer, the sponsor, the articles were written by Elisabeth Irish, editor, and Judith Lee and Harriet Lishen, associate editors. These articles gave interesting facts concerning the Romans. On the back page were other articles and also the contributions of the humor editors.

After all articles had been turned in, they were read and corrected by Jean Wenzlick, copy editor. Then each article was blocked to fit the column width, and the stencil was made by Marcella Reinhardt, typist. This year a vote of thanks was due to the typing classes for their help in getting the paper printed. The final step—the subscribers received their long-awaited copy of Latinus Rumor.

The purpose of El Circulo Espanol is to stimulate within the students an interest and understanding of Spanish customs, history, and present-day problems. Any person who studies Spanish may join the club.

Many interesting programs were given at the club meetings which were held every other Tuesday. One was a talk by Carlos Piaget, who showed the group some interesting pictures of his country and people, and various Mexican articles. In addition, the members made a trip to the Art Museum to see a display of Mexican art which dated back to the time of the Aztec Indians.

In the fall the annual wiener roast and scavenger hunt was given in Forest Park. This year, however, El Circulo Espanol and Le Cercle Francais joined forces and had a combined picnic.

One of the most outstanding events of the year was the Christmas party which was given at the home of Dorothy Culling. Many Spanish games were played and gifts were exchanged between the members.

The climax in the club was when all of the members had dinner at the Castilla, the famous Spanish restaurant in St. Louis.

The German Club completed its third successful year at Webster. The purpose of the club is to further interest in the German language.

Sponsored by Mr. Eberwein, the group held its meetings on the first and third Tuesdays of each school month. For these meetings, very interesting programs were planned. Early in the fall, the club sponsored a picnic at Forest Park. Speeches were given at various meetings by students who traveled in Germany during the past year. These speakers gave their impressions and observations on general conditions and customs in Germany. George Kahle, another student, showed some excellent moving pictures on Germany. Ellen Schoene also gave a very interesting talk on Goethe, a German author.

One of the main activities of the club was the publication of their paper, Die Deutsche Post. The paper, written entirely in German, printed news of interest and importance to the students. It was published once every three weeks.

All in all, the German Club has had a most eventful year and hopes that the interest of students in the German language will continue in coming years.

The Chemistry Club has been somewhat scorned for the peculiar odors that emanate from their benches in the laboratory, but the members went on, undaunted, and continued to enjoy themselves in the field of experimental chemistry. The club was organized, governed, and conducted entirely by students, Mr. Schulz acting only as a listener and as a safeguard against possible explosions resulting from faulty experiments.

The meetings were held every other Tuesday after school. The majority of the meetings consisted of experiments and illustrated talks on some chemical process that is not included in the usual science course; hence the club members had an opportunity to learn more practical chemistry; for example, Bob Newman gave an interesting experiment on the characteristics and composition of thermite. George Owen conducted a revealing experiment on the analysis of exactly how much silver is contained in a dime. Occasionally, an outside speaker was asked to attend the club meeting to give a talk on a particular topic of interest. The club members usually asked questions at the end of the program, and an animated discussion, to which all contributed, followed.

A small entry fee covers incidental expenses and is also used to replace old equipment. The members pay for their own ammunition, but the majority use rifles belonging to the club. The activities of the club are carried on between October and April.

The club is one of eight teams in a league of high school teams of this district; the teams engage in matches with each other throughout the shooting season.

To attain the qualifying score for membership, five teams were formed for competition. Their captains were Paul Strippgen, Langdon Woods, Blaine Ulmer, Bill Peters, and Gene Christmann. The latter three, respectively, were also high men for the year.

Since the team was not elected for the year but was constantly changed, everyone had an equal chance. Because of this and the many benefits derived, the Rifle Club had very enthusiastic and hard-working members on its roster.

The Hi-Y is one of the largest and most active organizations of the school. It is made up of junior and senior boys who strive to maintain and extend high standards of Christian character throughout the school and community.

Early in the fall the Hi-Y gave the first dance of the year with Harvey King's all-girl orchestra. Not long after this, a hay-ride was sponsored by the organization. To celebrate our Turkey-Day victory over Kirkwood they held a football dance at which Jane Clements was crowned Football Queen. Jean Brocksmith and Alyce Oliver were her maids. In February a Hill-Billy dance with corney decorations and an orchestra to match was given. The prize Hill Billies were George Bohn and Bob McMath.

The Hi-Y had meetings every Tuesday with various programs. The following men were the outstanding speakers: Coach Loebes of Washington University; Mr. Jones, publisher of the Kirkwood Messenger; Mr. Aldrich; Mr. Cooper; Mr. Goslin; and a native of India, who is traveling around the world on a bicycle.

Jim McKee, Lyle Allen, Hartwell Davis and Jim Brigham all represented the Webster Hi-Y in the state conference at Columbia in February.

The Soph-Y is a division of the Y. M. C. A. and consists only of boys in their second year of high school. Its purpose is to aid the members and be of service to the school. Their meetings are held every Monday evening at seventy-thirty.

A number of new ideas were inaugurated by the present Soph-Y organization. One was the establishment of a Social Welfare Committee to carry on all their charity work. This committee contributed to various local charities, their chief donation being a monthly contribution to Miss Tarpley, the visiting teacher, for her social welfare work in the schools of this community. The boys also contributed old clothes to the underprivileged children of the city. Another plan carried on was the sending of two boys of outstanding merit to a designated camp for several weeks in the summer. Following the resignation of the former Soph-Y sponsor, Mr. Wobbe, the organization welcomed as its new adviser, Mr. Carlos Stillwell.

At the meetings there were many interesting programs presented for the members. At one meeting, Mr. Zahner

A. in St. Louis spoke on general conditions in the world of today and how to combat all problems. Another interesting speech was given on travel in Germany and the club enjoyed it thoroughly.

The Social Committee planned many successful parties for the members. One of these was a dance given on November the nineteenth, and a hay ride followed not long after. They also sponsored a roller-skating party at the Arena Skating Rink, and another hay ride at a later date. Many of the Club's activities were not confined merely to the school, for often the boys swam at the Y. M. C. A. and early in the spring, they had a basketball game with the Soph-Y organization from Douglas School. They also held a joint meeting with several downtown chapters of the Soph-Y.

Since the Art Club is an after-school activity, only the boys and girls most interested in art become members. Interest and willingness to comply with the rules of the club are all that is required of a member, although the majority show promising talent.

Materials are supplied by the school without charge. The students work with diligence and cheerfulness. The walls of the room are covered with sketches and paintings, results of long hours of work.

Meetings were held every Thursday and lasted as long as one wanted to remain. Frequent trips to the Art Museum were made; impromptu parties were given on meeting days, and sometimes models were brought in.

Many interesting projects were carried out during the meetings. Some of these were metal baggage tags, notebooks, chalk sketches, and posters for contests. The Art Club was of great service to the Red Cross; the members rejuvenated Christmas cards, made books of pictures, painted menu covers for the sailors on our country's battleships, and made puppet shows.

The membership and interest of the club increased to such an extent that it was one of the most enthusiastic groups in the school.

The Fencing Club has just completed its second year as an organization of both boys and girls who are amateur fencers. Their meetings were held regularly every Monday and Thursday evening. Allan Beck, a former student at Webster, acted as instructor and advisor to the members. The club has as two of its members, the youngest fencers in St. Louis, Jeanne Dekker and Barbara Ellison. The club is affiliated with the Amateur Fencing League of America which schedules meets periodically.

The first meet was the beginning boys' tournament on December the twelfth in which Burk Stout, Al Gruer, and James Dinsmoor came in first, second, and third, respectively. The beginning girls also had a tournament, January the twelfth, in which Evon Dooley came in first; Jeanne Dekker, second; and Barbara Ellison, third. During the year, several club members gave an exhibition at Avery School. In the St. Louis Championship Meet, the novice foil team was awarded second place. Toward the end of each school year the club sponsors a championship tournament, in which only Webster students participate. Following this meet, the Fencing Club gave their final party.

Webster Groves High is the only public school which offers the students such wonderful opportunities in horse-back riding and is the only one which enters riders in the local horse shows. This year the students rode at Westwood Stables on Thursday afternoons and Saturday mornings. Cantering through the wooded trails was especially enjoyed by the members; however, serious riding was practiced too. Anyone could stay in the ring and receive pointers on riding from the Misses Toner or Otis Brown. It was at Westwood that the purpose of the club, to promote good sportsmanship and horsemanship, was fulfilled.

Aside from the actual riding, the club had regular meetings on the first Wednesday of every month. At the first meeting officers were chosen and plans for the year were made. The initiation of the new members was held in one of the first meetings which offered a lot of fun and laughs for everyone, even for the new members. The enrollment was so large this year that only fifty students were allowed to become active members. Aside from these, were twenty-five students who became inactive or associate members. The active members were required to ride once a month and to attend the meetings. Anyone who missed two meetings in a row or failed to ride once a month was forced to become inactive. The first person on the inactive list then became an active member. All of the privileges, except voting and holding office, were extended to the associate member.

In addition to the regular meetings, the club participated in many social events. The most outstanding one was the annual Christmas breakfast or Riding Club Round-up as it was called. The alumni were invited to join the members in the ride before breakfast and then come to the Round-up at the Deane Sisters. It was most exciting seeing so many of the old members and hearing of their experiences with the horses during the year.

Six members of the club entered the Maryville Horse Show this year and received top honors. The real highlight of the year was the spring horse show which was given by the club on the athletic field at school. There were thirty-three entries in the show and many of the students in school helped make it a great success.

The Ice Skating Club started its fifth year with a hundred and forty enrolled. The officers had been chosen the year before so the club was ready to function at once.

The members gathered together every Monday night to skate at the Winter Garden. There was a requirement that everyone must skate at least once a month. It was also possible for the girls to gain fifty points toward a "W" in the Girls' Athletic Association if she skated twice a month during the year.

The purpose of the club was to create and maintain an interest in this sport of ice skating. The club was not only for the girls who could already skate, but also for those who desired to learn. Whenever there was an opportunity the members would skate on the pond at Algonquin or on the lagoon in Forest Park.

In the spring near the closing of the Winter Garden the club went to Garavelli's for dinner. After this they all went skating together at the rink. This dinner and skate was the climax to another successful year of a most popular club.

The Roller Skating Club was an entirely new club this year. The first meeting was held in the fall under the sponsorship of Miss Sutherland. The officers were chosen and arrangements were made for the members to skate in the Maplewood rink. This rink was found to be too small so they changed to the Arena which was much better and met with the approval of all the members.

The club skated on the second and fourth Wednesday of every month, and it was a requirement that every member skate once a month. Girls who desired to gain points for the Girls' Athletic Association had to skate twice a month.

In spite of the fact that the Roller Skating Club was a beginner this year, it had the support of all its members and therefore was a great success. The purpose of the club was to give the girls an opportunity to skate together on a regular rink. This purpose was fulfilled to the utmost, and even some of the lower school pupils joined the members in order to get in their bit of skating.

The Pep Club is not a new club at Webster but is in reality a reorganization of the old Yellow Jackets. The purpose of the club, which is to promote school spirit and good sportsmanship, is practically the only thing that remains the same in both organizations.

At the first meeting in the fall, the idea of reorganization was brought forth. Everyone agreed that the name "Yellow Jacket" was not appropriate for the club. The argument was brought up that this had been the name for the past sixteen years and should not be changed, but this idea was overruled. The colors of the school do not contain yellow so the advisability of keeping such a name was considered negative by the members. The name "Pep Club" was the one most favored and was adopted.

The next adjustment to be made was the change in the yellow jackets worn as the emblem of membership. Probably the strongest objection to the club was the fact that a member was compelled to wear one of those unattractive jackets. This seemed quite a drastic thing to do since everyone in the club owned a jacket. Samples of other jackets were shown to the club and the present black jacket with the club emblem in orange was the one most preferred. There was a great deal of discussion, but finally the members voted for it to be the official jacket. A plan was devised so that a certain amount was deducted from price of the new jackets if the old ones were turned in to Miss Vossbrink. In this way the members felt that they were not at a complete loss over the exchange of jackets.

It was then necessary to plan a new system of admitting members to the club. In the past years many members would drop out because of their lack of cooperation in fulfilling the club regulations. A new method was established which enabled only the faithful girls to become members. Any sophomore girl could enter the club as a pledge. It was necessary for her to be on probation for one semester and during that time wear an orange emblem on a white shirt on the days that the Pep Club members wore their jackets. If at the end of this time, the pledge was still in good standing with the club, she was then entitled to become a member and wear a Pep Club jacket. This system proved to be the most successful way of having as members only those girls who were interested in athletics and would co-operate with the club.

The members of the Pep Club wore their black jackets on the days before each football, basket ball and baseball game. The girls were required to attend all of the home football games, one-third of the home basketball games, and one-half of the home baseball games. In the spring when the weather was too warm it was not compulsory to wear the jackets. In failing to fulfill one of these things, a demerit was given a member, and if she had three demerits, she was automatically dropped from the club.

The girls who were on probation were also required to do the above things. These were the regulations on which they were pledged for membership.

The same method of checking the girls was continued from last year as that plan proved to be very successful. The girls were divided into groups with one girl in charge of each group. It was her duty to see that the girls wore their jackets on the required days before the game. At school the girls reported to their checker and at the games they signed a slip of paper as they entered.

In the fall the organization sold orange and black pennants. These pennants had a rubber suction cap attached to the end, which enabled the pennant to be held on any flat surface. These helped very much toward promoting school spirit.

The members of the Pep Club were well satisfied with their new club. Too, there was much more contentment among them, since the jackets were so much more attractive. They felt as if their efforts were well rewarded as they saw their plans take shape and carried out with so much success.

With the election of new officers in the spring the Pep Club hoped their efforts would prove successful through the coming year and that their members would continue to be the chief enthusiasts at all sport games.

The Library Staff is made up of students who volunteer to help Miss Allen in running the library efficiently and to the best advantage of both faculty and students.

The various tasks of the staff are: checking out and stamping books; collecting fines; taking study hall attendance; repairing damaged books; keeping the books and periodicals in order on the shelves; seeing that the card catalog is kept up to date, and filing all orders from teachers for new reference and textbooks to use in their classes. These varied duties offer invaluable aid and experience to those who are willing to take advantage of working in the library and to the students who benefit by their efforts.

During National Book Week, the staff sponsored an assembly with Mr. Koenig who spoke on the value of reading and consulting books before taking a trip, and he illustrated his advice with a brief but interesting talk on his travels in Palestine and Egypt. At the regular monthly meetings, different programs were presented, usually book reviews, literary games and all sorts of interesting things that pertained to work in the library.

One of the most serviceable positions in Webster Groves High is that of an office assistant. The girls are an important link in the smooth running of such a large school of eighteen hundred students.

Two girls are on duty in the office during each hour. Their first duty is to collect absent slips from the different classrooms. The rest of their time is well taken up with various tasks. Telephone messages from home must be delivered to the students, and announcements are distributed to the classrooms. The lost and found articles are taken care of by the girls. All of the books that are turned in to the office are delivered to the students if they can be identified.

Everyone is familiar with the uncertain feeling on entering a new school. When a new student enters Webster, he does not encounter much difficulty, as the girls in the office readily assist them.

The office assistants not only devoted their time and service to the school but were at the same time benefited by their work. They received knowledge and practical experience in the details of office work.

The Pan-American Student League was organized in order to arouse interest in South America. It was the hope that through this interest a better understanding would be promoted between North and South America and that this interest would replace the mutual distrust now prevalent. Even aside from this need it was felt that great pleasure could be obtained by learning through travel, radio, and discussion of the wonderful yet unpublicized civilizations of South America.

With the aid of Mr. Ogle a number of enthusiastic students organized this year the Webster Groves Chapter. These students were Taylor Boggs, John Bier, Jack Daniel, Marybelle Bramhall, Harold Braun, Virginia Anger, and Jim Gentles. The meetings of the whole chapter were held monthly, but the main activity centered around a group of fifteen members, the Pan-American Council, which met weekly to plan the meetings, to carry on activities, and to learn Pan-Americanism. The members of the Pan-American Council were John Bier, Jack Daniel, Harold Braun, Taylor Boggs, Marybelle Bramhall, Don Miller, Ann Gamble, Fred Berthold, Bob Newman, Virginia Anger, Jim Dinsmoor, Bob McKelvey, Dot Culling, Mary Katherine Kremer, and Bill Chapman.

The Scribblers' is an organization of literary writers open to any student in the lower school who is interested in journalism. Those members who pass from junior to senior school are carried on as honorary members as long as they wish to participate in the club activities. The members met every Thursday afternoon after school for one hour to read or create stories, poems, and other writings.

In their meetings, a certain amount of time was set aside for the reading of a continuous story which the members, themselves, wrote and which they intend to compile into book form. They had contests of a literary nature among themselves at the meetings. Many of their poems were published in the Oak Leaf, a magazine published by the Sebago Club. The Scribblers' also had the greatest number of poems read at the poetry festival of the St. Louis College Club.

However, all their activities were not business purposes. Early in the fall the club had a wiener roast at Osage Hills. They also had several parties, one at Hallowe'en, another at Christmas, and an excursion to Judith Lee's farm in the spring.

This year the first activity of the Red Cross was the membership drive. At this time about seven hundred buttons were sold to generous students.

The next good work was the filling of boxes of presents to be sent to children of foreign lands. Thirty boxes were filled with many beautifully wrapped gifts. These included soap, tooth brushes, pencils, and an unbelievable number of toys.

Mrs. Chapman, chairman of the Junior Red Cross in Webster Groves, and Mrs. C. E. Roop, a very active worker, told this chapter about various activities of the National Red Cross. On November 21, the Red Cross sponsored an assembly, which included moving pictures and a very interesting talk by Mr. Robert Evans, emergency director of the American Red Cross.

A Thanksgiving project was voted down by the representatives in order to concentrate all efforts on the Christmas baskets. In this work the school was most generous and coöperative, and many heart-rending letters of thanks have been received from benefiting families.

A candy sale and a picnic for under-privileged children from a St. Louis settlement house were other activities of this very successful year.

Early this spring a tennis club of thirty-five members was formed with Mr. Cooper as coach. In order to determine a team, he organized a ladder tournament, the team to consist of the first seven men on the ladder. This inspired the rest of the club to climb as quickly as possible to a team position. The entire club showed remarkable interest and zeal.

With the turn of good weather the squad was whipped into shape by a preliminary match with Principia, which was won by Webster by a top-heavy score. With confidence and form mounting, Coach Cooper's boys on May 1st blasted Maplewood out of the scene without losing a match. After a short rest, another practice match was played with Country Day, whose squad, being already in mid-season form, proved too much for Webster.

However, the club and squad looked forward to an exceedingly successful climax to the year. With the help of such talent as Fred Berthold, Jack Landon, Bob Pearson, Bill Hinson, Frank Van Luick, Charles Forsythe, George Dorsett, the tennis organization promised great hopes for the future.

In the opening game of the season Webster's inexperienced team fought C. B. C. to a standstill. The game ended with the score reading 0-0. The great defensive play of the heavily outweighed line of the Statesmen highlighted the game.

The McArtormen trounced Cleveland, 19-13, in their second start. The Carondeleters were swamped by the Orange and Black's newly found offensive power. The Statesmen led at the half, 13-7. Co-captain Pacey passed twice to Devine to put the ball on Cleveland's thirty-yard line, from where Pacey skirted his own left end for a touchdown. The other two touchdowns were also scored by Pacey on a reverse lateral pass play, Murphy to Goerner to Pacey, and a buck through the line.

The following week the Statesmen tackled the Maplewood eleven. The Blue Devils won the tilt, 13-0.

Webster came back strongly in the second half to take the measure of U. City, 13-9. The McArtormen were losing, 7-0, at the end of the first half. Fuhrman went over for the first score. Pacey then tossed to Winters standing in the end zone to put the Statesmen in the lead.

Seemingly tired by the long trip, the Statesmen dropped a night game to Cape Girardeau Central High by a 7-6 score. The Mc-Artormen had one touchdown called back because two Webster receivers touched the ball on a forward pass.

The Orange and Black had an easy time in defeating Ritenour, 19-0. The reserves played most of this game. The feature of the game was end John Lenzen's sixty-yard return of the opening kickoff.

Webster assured itself of a tie with U. City for the championship of the "Big Four" teams of the county by walloping Normandy, 20-13. The slow first half ended with the Statesmen on the Viking's three-yard line, first and goal. As the second half started the Mc-Artormen drove the length of the field and scored on a thirty-yard touchdown pass Pacey to Devine. Two more touchdowns were enough to win the exciting conflict.

The Orange and Black eleven eked out a 14-13 verdict over Clayton at the loser's field. In each half Clayton was first to score with Webster matching the counters both times. Webster made both extra points, Pacey place kicking the first and passing to Winters for the second. Devine's eighty-yard touchdown jaunt was the highlight of the close contest.

Webster's team started clicking in the second half to overcome the 6-0 lead held by Kirkwood to finish the season with a 13-6 triumph. Devine again sparked the team to victory, catching one pass for a touchdown and setting up the other score by pulling the mud-covered ball out of the air to put the ball on the Kirkwood twenty-yard line, from where Pacey scored a play later.

The reserve team played seven games, winning two, losing three, and tying two. They beat Kirkwood, 33-0; lost to Kirkwood, 6-0; tied Kirkwood, 6-6; beat Normandy, 18-0; tied Maplewood, 0-0; lost to Maplewood, 6-0, and were swamped by U. City, 6-0. These boys served as practice dummies for the varsity and rarely worked together in practice which makes their poor record seem insignificant.

The B team won six games in a row. The Gainesmen beat Ritenour, 27-0; Chaminade, 34-0; Clayton, 7-0; Maplewood, 8-0; Wellston, 34-0, and Normandy, 27-0.

The C team won four games while dropping only one decision. The midgets took Ritenour, 33-0; Chaminade, 14-0; Wellston, 12-0, and Normandy, 27-0, losing only to Clayton by a 7-6 score.

Basket Ball

Eighty hopeful students responded to Coach Cooper's first call for basket ball two weeks before Thanksgiving. From the football team four last year letter-men joined the squad. They are Captain-elect Richard Devine, Dan Pacey, Ken Quevreaux, and Allan Carvell. Besides these, one minor letter-man, six members of last year's sophomore team, and one newcomer reported after football. These twelve, along with four non-footballers, comprised the roster for the season. The boys worked hard to get in shape for the first game but two weeks away.

After many hard practices and one practice game, the Coopermen tangled with Soldan on the Webster court. Soldan, making use of their superior experience, trounced the Statesmen, 36-33.

The second try proved much more successful. Losing badly at the end of the first half, the Statesmen came back strongly to take the measure of C. B. C., 17-14.

The Coopermen advanced to the semi-finals of the Normandy Invitational Tournament during the Christmas Holidays. The first two games the Statesmen captured handily. Ben Blewett bowed, 27-24, and Ritenour was snowed under, 37-32. South Side Catholic took the Statesmen into camp and ousted them from the tournament. The Green Waves' superior height helped to make the final score read 25-19 with South Side on top.

Webster's favored quintet was upset by U. City, 26-25. A fourth-quarter uprising by the Indians took the Statesmen's scalps. The following night the Coopermen eked out a 31-27 verdict over Kirkwood at Kirkwood.

Showing surprising power, the Statesmen easily defeated a supposedly strong Clayton quintet by a 35-18 score. The Orange and Black grabbed an early lead which they never relinquished. Webster again conquered Ritenour 34-21 on the following Tuesday.

Maplewood fell to the sharp-shooting Webster cagers on the Webster hardwood. With "Willie" Winters' second half scoring spree, which netted twelve points, the final score stood Webster 31, Maplewood 24.

Playing very sloppy basket ball, the Coopermen conquered Wellston at the Wellston Gym. The Statesmen were held to twenty-two points while holding Wellston to fifteen.

On Saturday night the Webster five played a charity game with Central High of the city. The game took place at Washington University Field House, and the Statesmen eked out a 27-25 overtime verdict. Devine's set-up putting the game on the win side of the ledger.

Normandy was greeted with one of the Statesmen's best offensive thrusts and were snowed under by a 37-14 score. This was the final night for four Webster regulars, Captain Devine, Winters, Peat, and Carvell.

Maplewood, taking advantage of the inexperience of four junior boys, beat Webster by five points, the final score read 17-12 with Pacey and Quevreaux making ten points between them.

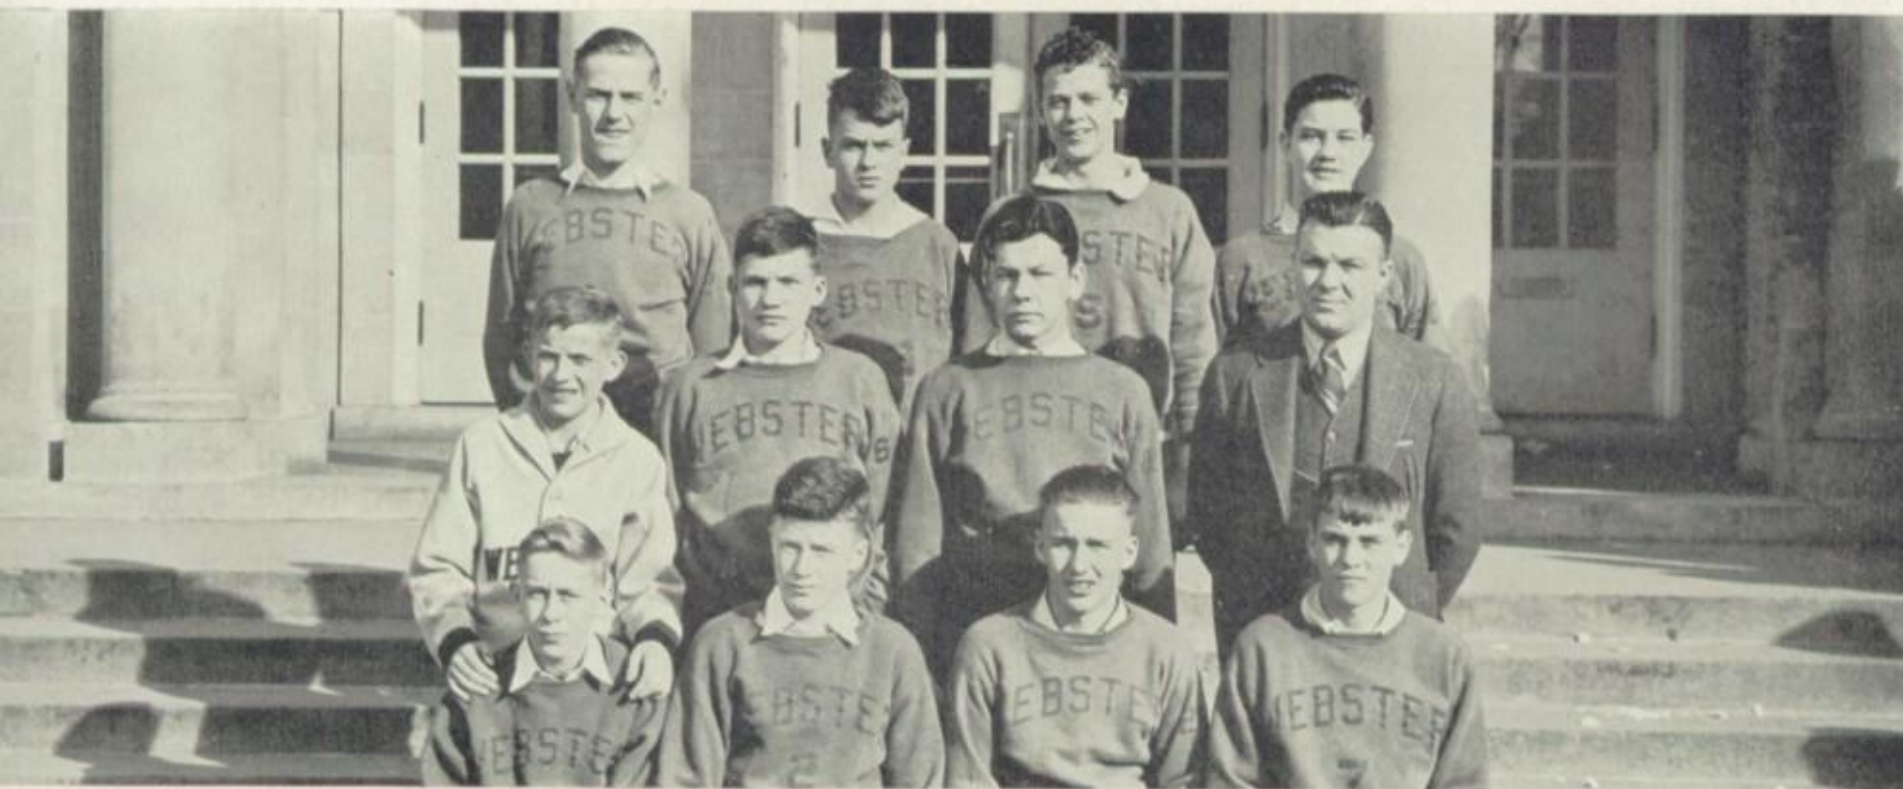

The new team revenged an early defeat by subduing U. City 29-19 at the Armory. Bill Hinson, starting his first game, had eight points, but Quevreaux led the scorers with eleven points.

Clayton was again trampled by Webster at their own court. The score read 41-28 with Hinson and Pacey in the stellar roles. The next night the Coopermen jumped to an early lead and conquered Kirkwood 33-25. Pacey's twelve points was the standout of the evening.

Webster easily took the measure of St. Charles 32-18. "Wimp" Armstrong led the scorers with nine points.

The record for the season stood at fourteen wins and five losses as the Statesmen ended the season with a 32-30 loss to Normandy in the District Tournament. This is a very creditable record for Coach Cooper's first year at Webster.

Baseball

On March 15 Coach Gaines started baseball practice. He gave out uniforms to four major lettermen and six minor lettermen. Monday thirteen senior aspirants showed their wares, and Tuesday twenty-eight juniors were given a chance. Cold weather then interrupted practice until the following Monday when seventy-one sophomores and freshmen reported for tryouts.

Last year's team set a fast pace for the boys to follow—a record of thirteen wins with only five losses, two no-hit games being hurled, and the leading batters hit well above the coveted 400 mark.

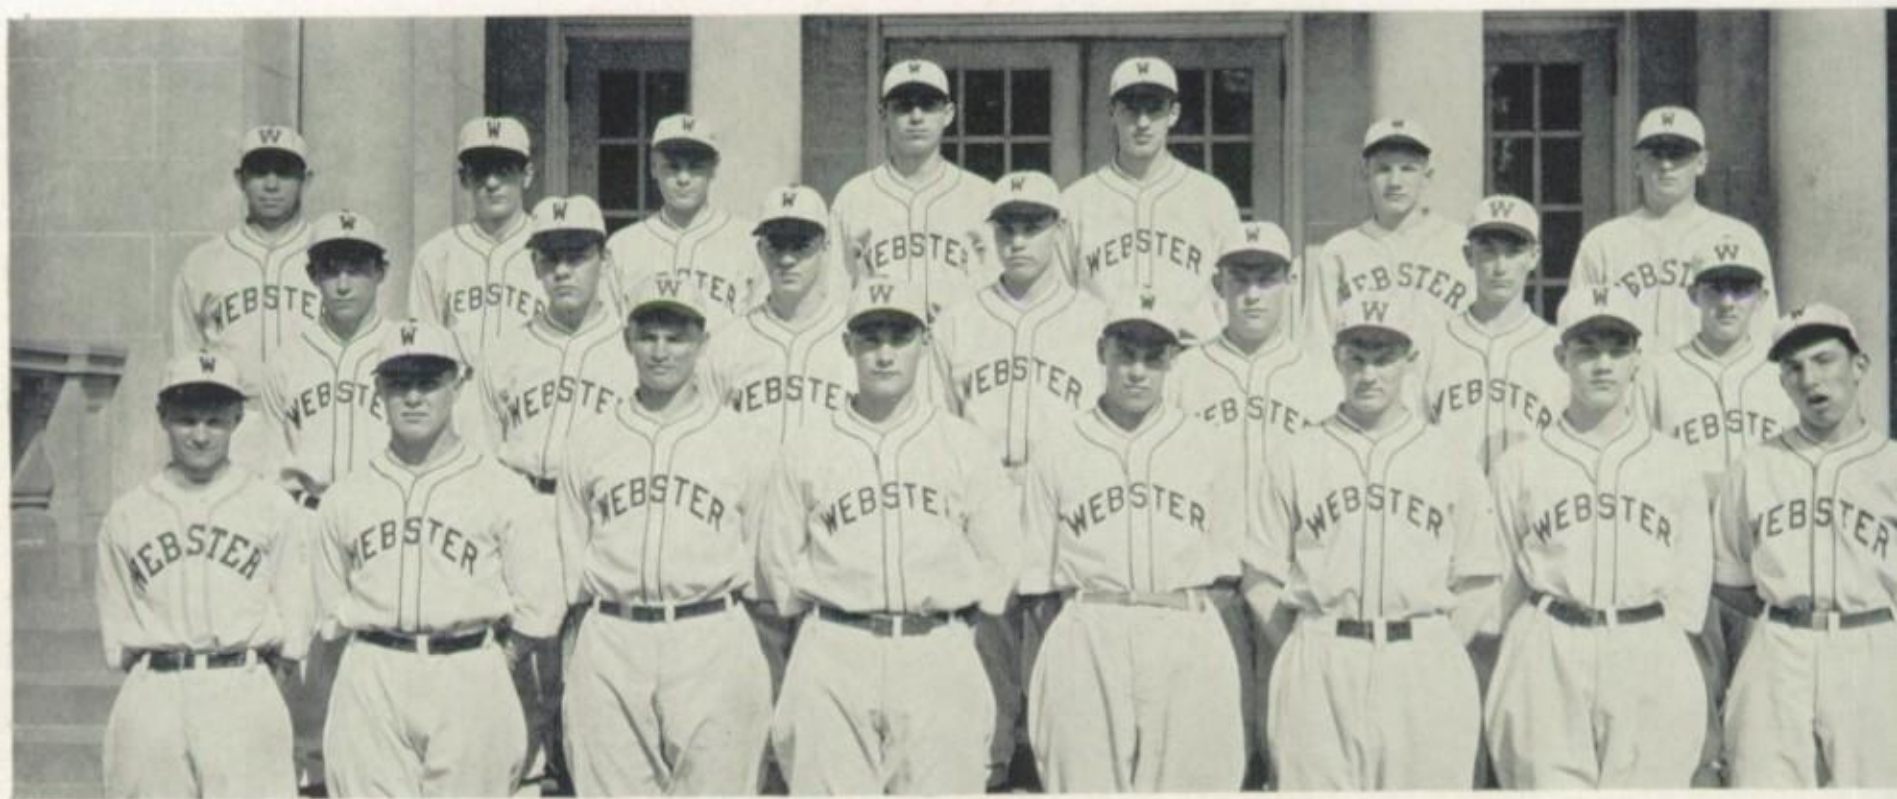

On April 13th the Statesmen, behind Sig Langsam's three hit pitching, took an eight inning, 2-1 verdict from Chaminade.

The mainstays of the team were: Quevreaux, Langsam, and Stratton pitch; Brackman and O'Herin catch; Woodard, Adams, Fieldson, Mullen and Stice infield; and Captain McKee, Mueller, Bartz, and Shannon outfield.

Senior Track

The Track was put in shape early, and the uniforms were distributed at the end of February. Practice was really begun on Monday, March 6. Due to the loss of quite a few last year lettermen, Coach Roberts had to build his team around the three returning major-lettermen, Ed Elzemeyer, a hurdler, John Lenzen, a hurdler, and Douglas Maus, a dashman. Besides fifteen minor lettermen the rest of the team was made up of inexperienced boys.

Webster played host to Kirkwood with both the senior and junior teams competing. Webster easily came out on top in both classes. The seniors' score read 71-47 and the junior score was 70-39. In the senior division Gerell, Maus, Brien, Smith, and Conner gathered firsts in the High Jump, 100 yard dash, 440 yard dash, Mile run, and 880 yard run, respectively. Lothman won both the Discus and Shot Put, and Lenzen led the field in the 200 yard low hurdles and the 100 yard high. The marks set were fair for the early season, but Bill Conner's 880 yard run time, 2:09:3 minutes was really good for the first meet.

and 100 yard dashes, as Hunseaker took the 220, Rodgers the shot put, Colmey, the pole vault. Dray and Ballard tied for first in the high jump, and Tower annexed the broad jump. The 880 yard relay went to the junior Statesmen.

On April 3 the senior members of the track team went to Columbia to take part in the State Indoor meet. The boys didn't do so well, managing to obtain only five points. Tower and Pearson took third and fourth, respectively, in the broad jump; and the 880 relay team won a third in their event.

The Webster juniors met and defeated the Beaumont juniors on April 4. The score read 66-29 in favor of the Statesmen. Firsts were captured by Kick, 50 and 100 yard dash; Hunseaker, 220; Berkrebrede, 440; Wheeler, 110 yard low hurdles; Rodgers, shot and discus; Colmey, pole vault and high jump; and Sullivan, broad jump.

The Webster seniors met their first defeat at the hands of Beaumont on April 6. Winning only two of the thirteen events, the Statesmen were decisively defeated 80½-29½.

Basket Ball

Play day was held at Webster Saturday, February 4th, as the official opening of the basket ball season. Webster and Maplewood won all their games, coming out highest of the ten schools participating.

The Sophomores, playing their first season of inter-school basket ball, did very well, winning all their games.

The varsity team was composed of nine seniors, one junior and two sophomores. They were M. Dumont, H. Broaddus, A. Anderson, Jean Brocksmith, E. Argint, E. Haddaway, H. Lishen, June Brocksmith, B. Dixon, A. Gamble, I. Griffiths, D. Dale. Varsity won three games and lost the fourth by one point. The game against U. City was the best played of all. This was due to the fact that substitutions were made whenever needed. The score was almost tied during the entire game.

Hockey

The Webster girls enthusiastically entered into the after-school hockey season. The class teams were picked from those girls who took part in the inter-mural games.

The interschool games began at a field day held at Kirkwood. Normandy, Clayton, Kirkwood and Webster took part. Kirkwood and Webster tied for first place.

The seniors' game against John Burroughs was the best played game of the year. Opposing a strong squad, Webster won the game 2-1.

The sophomores tied every game.

Girls who made the varsity team were H. Broadbuss, S. Kaufman, L. Stewart, H. Lloyd, E. Argint, I. Griffiths, June Brocksmith, J. Dorsey, J. Hackman, B. Hiatt, D. Wolff, P. Coffman, H. Lishen, A. Anderson, H. Garner, A. Doerle and Jean Brocksmith.

Volley-ball

The volley-ball class teams were picked from the girls who played inter-mural games. Between twelve and fourteen players were chosen for each team. The girls practiced with each other to perfect their technique and to plan new plays. Their winning play was the set up. One girl would hit the ball into position for another to hit it over the net more effectively.

Webster competed against Ritenour, U. City, Maplewood, and Kirkwood. The seniors won all their games by their excellent team work. The juniors followed their example with the exception of one game which they lost by a small margin.

The Webster sophomores were the best team in comparison with other schools. They won all their games by quite a few points. During the games, necessary substitutions were made only at the half.

Fifteen girls were chosen for the varsity team. The varsity teams from several schools met in one place for an elimination tournament. The games continued until one team was the winner of the winning teams and another the winner of the consolation tournament. For the second consecutive year Webster Groves High School won the tournament.

Girls Athletic Association

On September twenty-first the first meeting of the Girls' Athletic Association was held, and the new officers took over their respective jobs. The previous year June Brocksmith had been elected president, Marie Dumont vice-president, Jean Brocksmith treasurer, and Harriet Lishen secretary for 1938-9.

It was decided that all girls who could make a hundred points by being on two after school teams, hiking, or being on a class team might become members. A treasure hunt was given for the new sophomore girls on Saturday morning, October eighteenth. The boundary lines allowed a five mile radius for the girls to hunt in. The treasure that they all sought was a small cedar chest with two hundred and fifty brand new pennies in it. This allowed thirty-five cents to each member of the winning group and forty cents to the leader.

The annual G. A. A. Benefit show was given at the Ozark Theater to make money for the May Fete and the group pictures. Each girl was requested to sell three tickets. This turned out very profitably

A backward dance has been given the last two years at which the boys are the center of attraction. At this dance the most popular boy was crowned king of the campus, attended by the four boys with the next highest number of votes. Their popularity was determined by a petition and two votings. Each of the boys was escorted to the platform by his escort. The Kampus King entered last and was crowned by the president of G. A. A.

At the end of the year a banquet was held in the lunch room. This was the last time many of the G. A. A. senior girls would be together and so the most important of the club's events. Speeches were made and awards given to those who had earned them. Those who had obtained 1000 points received a "W", 1500 a G. A. A. "W", and 2000 a lovely little silver loving cup. More seniors this year won the cup than ever before.

In September the advanced choir held a get-acquainted picnic at Forest Park with Mr. Hixson as a special guest. After supper the group gathered around a large fire and sang songs.

On October 3, the choir made its first public appearance of the year at the Bristol P. T. A. dinner.

At Christmas time, this choir played a large part in the Christmas vesper program, a sacred service which depicted the first Christmas in music and pantomime. The service was presented in the soft glow of candlelight on Sunday, December 18, for the public. Twice the following week the program was repeated for both the upper and lower school. The choir also made a half-hour recording of their music for Station KXOK which was heard over the air Christmas Day.

During the month of December, the Rotary Club invited this group to entertain them with their singing. On Thursday, January 26, the music for the P. T. A. was furnished by the A Cappella Choir and the band. The following night the group sang several numbers for the Commencement exercises.

In the month of March, this group of competent singers was twice heard "on the air." The New York office of C. B. S. invited the choir to present a half-hour program over a National hook-up on March 7th. The Saturday preceding this date the choir was also heard over the local Station KMOX for fifteen minutes. Letters of congratulations were received from many unknown admirers in the United States, commenting on the splendid and inspiring work of these young people and their director.

During this same month, the Sunday Evening Club at the Centenary Church asked this choral group to sing at their service. The choir also sang at the St. Louis County Music Festival which was held at University City.

On April 13th, the A Cappella members were excused from school to go to Hannibal and sing for the high school assembly there. The welcome received there was most cordial, and the audience was very appreciative. The girls' quartet, composed of choir members, namely, Harriett Lloyd, Vivian Uyeda, Barbara Ramsey and Betty Teach, also rendered several numbers.

At the last of this month the choir entered the State Contest at Columbia, Missouri. The singing at the June Commencement Exercises concluded the calendar of events for this talented group.

The beginning A Cappella Choir prepares its members to take the place of those in the advanced group who will graduate. However, this group sings just about as difficult music as the other group.

This choir greatly added to the enjoyment of the Christmas Vespers with its singing of four or five carols and its part in the processional and recessional.

Its first performance of the year was given for the parents. At this program they sang O Morn of Beauty, Venetian Love Song, O Soldier, Soldier, The Sleigh, Ain't G'wine Study War No More, Ezekial' Saw De Wheel, and The King's Breakfast. The boys' quartet and the girls' sextette, composed of members of the group, presented several numbers. After the choral music, tea and cake were served by members of the advanced choir.

During February the choir sang for the Webster Groves Colored Church. The audience greatly appreciated the beautiful music and was deeply inspired.

On Thursday, April 6th, this organization furnished the music for the pre-Easter service of the Presbyterian Church. On the twelfth of the same month the choir sang at the Cape Girardeau High School and very splendidly represented our school.

Advanced Glee Club

Doerle, Van Tassell, Watkins, Gore, Conrad, Schindler, Struetker, Eschenberg, Sutter, Herlihy, Twombly, Heap

The advanced girls' glee club consisted of sophomore, junior, and senior girls who had had previous glee club experience. The club, which numbered about forty, met daily during the first hour in the band room under the direction of Mr. Biggar.

The girls received training in music dictation, key signatures, and other principles of music. Also, each girl was required to sing a solo.

The club's activities the last year were varied. They gave a much-appreciated assembly for the lower school, sang at the Old Folks' Home, and some of the members took part in the Christmas program. Before the end of the year the girls hoped to be able to broadcast over KXOK.

At the University City music festival, held the first of April, this organization combined with the beginning glee club and received a very good rating.

Some of the songs in the club's repertoire were "Drum Major" by Langs, "Where'er You Walk" by Handel, "Music, When Soft Voices Die" by Dickinson, and "Sleepers, Awake!"

Among the glee club's social activities was a hay ride held in the fall.

As had been recently decided, the beginning glee club was composed largely of tenth-grade girls, with others who had not been in a glee club before. They met daily in the choral room during the sixth hour under the direction of Mrs. Lorraine Bohnenkamp. This class was a preparation for the advanced glee club.

The official dress for the girls was very simple. They wore pastel skirts and white shirts.

"Robin in the Rain" and "Lullaby" by Noble Cain; "Snow" by Elgar; "Song to Bohemia"—a folk song; and "Cossack Cradle Song" were just a few of the numbers the girls worked on.

The club sang at the Old Folks' Home in Kirkwood, the Parent-Teachers' Association of the Lockwood School, and caroled during the Christmas season.

In cooperation with Mr. Biggar's first hour advanced glee club, this group entered the music festival at University City High School the first of April. The two groups also planned a combined program given May 2 in the high school auditorium. This spring concert, culminating all their work, was the climax of the club's year. It included combined singing, a piano duo, a Madrigal group, which sang in costume, and a quartet, which presented songs by Stephen Foster.

The ninth-grade mixed chorus was composed of two groups, which met on alternate days in room 117 during the third hour under the direction of Mrs. Lorraine Bohnenkamp.

The girls' glee club numbered about 55 and met on Monday, Tuesday, and odd Wednesdays. This club worked on programs of related songs, such as folk songs and art songs. They sang at the Kirkwood Old Folks' Home at Christmas time and also gave a program for their mothers in the Little Theatre, with tea served in room 117 afterwards. When the club sang at the music festival in University City, they received favorable criticism.

The boys' glee club, composed of 25 boys from the seventh, eighth and ninth grades, met on Thursday, Friday, and even Wednesdays. The officers were Chester Yard and Edward Knetzger.

The girls wore white silk blouses and pastel skirts; the boys wore dark suits and white shirts.

The combined chorus sang in several junior school assemblies and also participated in the fall band concert, along with other junior school classes. They also planned a big combined spring concert.

The band claimed the lion's share of musical attention this season because of its flashy uniforms. These much needed uniforms finally became a reality because of the hard work of both the mothers of band members and the Webster Chamber of Commerce. On March 30 the band appeared for the first time before the public in their new uniforms. Besides giving numerous concerts, the band also attended the County and State Music Festivals, where it won the highest rating. Its repertoire comprised a wide and varied selection—from the modern Deep Purple and Donkey Serenade to the powerful Introduction to Act III of Lohengrin, the William Tell Overture, the Unfinished Symphony, Rosamunde Overture, and the 1812 Overture.

There were a number of small ensembles which gave a program of chamber music at the Monday Club. These included flute, clarinet, baritone, trombone, French horn, cornet, and woodwind quartettes, a woodwind quintette, and a brass sextette. Another significant accomplishment was the performance of the athletics band whose impressive showing will be remembered as a high-light of the football season.

Altogether the band has been quite active and has proved itself worthy of the hearty praise it has received.

Junior Band

The past year has been a very busy and successful one for the junior band. Besides playing on numerous occasions in Webster Groves and in the junior school assemblies, they participated in the Junior Music Concert, which had a larger attendance than ever before, and gave an assembly program at Maplewood Junior High. Part of the group was also chosen to take part in a music clinic which was held at Hunleth Music Company. Among the pieces played by the band were Prince and Jester Overture, the Intermezzo Symphonique, and several Bach chorales.

Some of the members played with the advanced band and the athletics band in order to fill in the necessary instrumentation. Also, many were given a chance to display their ability in the trumpet, flute, clarinet, brass, and woodwind quartets which were made up of lower school players. A few of the things which were emphasized to make the students more conscious of the quality of their playing were sectional practices, technique, and solo playing. Along with this came their full band experience in which they have proved themselves capable and industrious workers.

The orchestra was handicapped to some extent this year because of its scarcity of violinists. On account of this shortage it did very little concert work—outside of the annual music concert and the county and state festivals. The string sections took advantage of this fact though; and instead of spending all of their time preparing for some special program, they devoted part of their class time to studying other phases of orchestra work. Each member was given a chance to practice conducting, learning how to hold the baton correctly and how to beat 2/4, 3/4, 4/4, 6/8 time with a reasonable amount of skill. The orchestra played Beethoven's First Symphony, The Unfinished Symphony, Egmont Overture, and Elsa's Procession to the Cathedral, besides many other light numbers.

A selected group furnished the music for several school activities—the May Fete, Coronation, and the January and June graduations. The string quartette performed on the average of once or twice a month, their engagements ranging from weddings to political meetings.

The orchestra does more for a student than to merely teach him to read notes; it instills in him the desire for a better understanding and appreciation of music itself.

Junior Orchestra

The lower school orchestra has done much to stimulate further interest in our music department by playing at assemblies in all the grade schools, and, as a result, enthusiasm is created among prospective members before they enter high school. Besides this the orchestra took part in a lower school assembly program, the Junior Music Contest, and the Music Festival at University City. Its achievements can be judged by its extensive repertoire which included Echoes From Grand Opera, Tosselli's Serenade, Two Guitars, Petite Suite de Ballet, March Militaire, and the Andante from the Surprise Symphony. A few of the more advanced players were given an opportunity to play in the high school orchestra, and they did it remarkably well. There was also a violin quartet organized, which played at the Monday Club.

The junior orchestra was composed of sixty pieces and has complete instrumentation, which is unusual in such a young group. According to Mr. Biggar, all the students have displayed very outstanding ability, plus a willingness to work—a desirable combination in any organization. We are looking forward to great things from them in the next few years.

LETTUCE TO THE EDITORS

LAFF ON THE WEBSTER HIGH SHIRT FRONT

LAFF LOOKS BLACK (WE SHOULD HAVE USED INVISIBLE INK)

LAFF GOES TO THE DOGS

SYMPHONY IN LIGHT BLACK

LAFF'S PHOTOGRAPHER

Laff's youngest photographer, Candida Camera, came to us from the Webster School of Photography where he was most noted for his work in portraying flying paper-wads in action. Last year he received the P. U. Litzer award for his vivid portrait (above, left) of Snow White in a pile of soap chips—"Symphony in Light Black." Mr. Camera took some pictures of a girls' football game for this issue, but when the pictures were developed, it was found that the girls were obscured by dense clouds of face powder. The next issue will contain more of Mr. Camera's Superlative Work.

LAFF

Instead of looking over the plans of the glorified slingshot, we were forced to overlook them. Unfortunately Mr. Beerstein drew the plans on the back of an old chemistry exam. Nobody's been able to get up enough courage to get close enough to the plans to look them over. Anyway the School Board said the idea wasn't practical—no provision for carrying all the books a student studies.

Dear Editor:

Congratulations on your stirring article, "The Menace of Termites in W. P. A. Shovel Handles." It disgusted a very important problem of the day.

Yours,

U. R. A. Bore.

Dear Editor:

The fascinating series of pictures on Webster High girls in your April 12th issue was superb. Something was wrong with my copy though; the girls were all blurred. I wonder why?

Little Alvie.

Alvie, there is some fast action not even a camera can stop.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sirs:

Laff is a regular visitor at our house. Have just received your last copy—I hope.

Cora Spontent.

To reader Spontent we only can say; quote, censored, unquote.

Dear Sirs:

At your request we have drawn up the last will and testament of the Class of '39, to-wit, viz., and following:

Whereas, the Class of '39 being in full possession of its halfwits and the faculty, do will and bequeath the following properties and possessions:

I. I box of Senior dignity and prestige to the Juniors (they need it.)

II. 1 bottle of Kreml to Mr. Aldrich (he needs that, too)

III. 2 practically new model T Fords—to anyone who will pull them out of the ditch.

IV. 1 set of lights for each member of the faculty so the teacher mortality rate in the halls will not be so high.

V. 1 book, "How to Play Baseball," to the Juniors. We hope this will will (well, well) be satisfactory.

Yours truly,

Brown, Tan, Sepia, and Brown.

H-m-m-m-m! That signature looks a bit shady to us—maybe it's a study in brown.

Dear Editor:

Enclosed please find my plans for the Stude-a-Pult. The Stude-a-Pult is an improved catapult and can be installed on the front walk of the W. G. H. S. for the convenience of Webster's numerous 8:29 arrivals. Note its advantages:

1. Directional stabilizer which will throw you down the hall in a predetermined direction.

2. Curve control—enables the Stude-a-Pult to throw you around corners or up stairs.

3. Built-in mail hook—enables passenger to pick up excuses from 105 as he goes by.

4. A special siren which shouts, "Assembly"—guaranteed to clear the halls.

Will you kindly look over these plans and tell me if the School Board would be interested?

Yours truly,

Albert Beerstein.

Dear Editor:

In the last issue of LAFF (unfortunately it wasn't the last) you stated that old 1921 was a kind of wine! Now, anybody knows that 1921 was the finest, squarest, toughest, little engine in the railroad yards. Why, I've known that engine for years, loved it like a father. When I was a baby it gave me safety pins; when I was in school it helped me with my homework; and once when I sat on the fire-box it helped me get up! Naturally I feel hurt when you refuse to let a poor old engine keep up its self-esteem. I demand a retraction.

Don Miller.

Dear Don:

Sorry, but we're all out of retraction. We used it all up repairing the roadbed between here and Parkmoor. We have attraction, subtraction, caterpillar tractions, and now that you have written us, we have lots of detraction. Take your choice.

Dear Editor:

I'm writing you as a last resort. I have tried to get results from everybody in school, and the only person who paid any attention to me was Miss Rep. She said to sit up straight and take the gum out of my mouth. Look, can you do something about the clocks in this school? About once an hour they explode and wake me up. Teachers have tried to explain it by saying that it's the end of the period, but I think that's a pretty poor excuse.

Hope you can help me.

Sam Oliver.

announce candidates for Senior officers are chosen.

Oct. 6—Great smashup! Cleveland shrinks before Webster 13-19. Spinach takes a bow.

Oct. 8—Harem in form of orchestra graces Hi-Y dance. In case you're thick-headed, we mean an all girl orchestra.

Oct. 11—Seniors hold breath—voting on officers.

Oct. 12—Another assembly. This one was dead, merely a Puppet Show.

Oct. 14—Maplewood demons overcome Webster men, 13-0.

Oct. 20—Seniors clash over amount of dues. Well-known nationality is brought out. Up to now the great amount of Scotch descent has been under cover.

Oct. 22—Webster changed history in massacring U. City Indians, 13-9.

Oct. 26—General Motors pictures and cheers make up assembly. Cheers for football, not the pictures.

Oct. 28—Boys leave home! (Happy.) Boys come home! (Unhappy.) Reason: Cape Girardeau 7, Webster 6.

Oct. 29—The Hallowe'en spirit invades school. Mid-Seniors throw their "Pumpkin."

DIARY OF MISS SENIOR

Oct. 31—Webster "struggles" to 19-0 victory o'er Ritenour.

Nov. 1—And now that it is cold a new fashion comes into view, the heretofore scarcely seen saddle shoes. One type dominates Webster: black and white and tread all over.

Nov. 2—Most of school gains permission to view cavalry pass by. Geel 'Tanks, pal!

Nov. 3 and 4—Teachers' convention. Happy students.

Nov. 8—Mock election held in conference! Good time had by all.

Nov. 11—Armistice assembly. Normandy bows to Webster 20-15.

Nov. 12—Senior girls defeat Junior girls 7-0, in an extraordinary exhibition of football. Several new words were coined during the game.

Nov. 16—Fair and cooler today. School as usual.

Nov. 19—Soph-Y Dance. Several new jittersbugs discovered.

Nov. 23—Ah! What a day. Pep assembly 6th hour. Bob Swartz wins pie-eating contest—the big pig! Annual holds afternoon dance.

Nov. 24—Turkey Day! Muddy Day! Breezy Day! The turkeys are eaten! The mud gets in the football players' eyes. The breeze gets under the spectator's skin. However, Webster wins 13-6.

Nov. 26—Hi-Y dance. Jane Clements crowned football queen.

Nov. 29—Welcome mat stuck in front of "Stage Door." First performance.

Dec. 1—And now that it is really cold, jazzy ear muffs come into view—at least a mile away.

Dec. 6—The first week of December passes with a lull. Santa Claus is coming, tra la!

Dec. 9—Teachers do students favor. (?) Have meeting so we can get out at 2:00.

Dec. 17—Seniors duck the Scotch members and give dance.

Dec. 19—Out at 2:40. Oh! those teachers.

Dec. 22—Christmas program. Vacation starts, so does dissipation.

Dec. 24—Christmas eve and all is well, except—

Dec. 26—Wallets are full; cars full of gas; and energy galore!

Dec. 30—New Year's Eve—well, draw your own conclusions.

Jan. 17—Snow comes; sleds come; skis come; snow goes away.

Jan. 21—Junior Icicle—last fling before term exams.

Jan. 23—Exams—oh, my gosh!

Jan. 24—Exams—oh, my!

Jan. 25—Exams—oh!

Jan. 26—New schedule—half day.

Jan. 27—Holiday—Teachers make out report cards—students make whoopee before bad news comes out.

Jan. 28—Last basket ball game for ninth semester men. Victorious over Normandy 37-14.

Feb. 1—Four more months of school! Year must be moving on W. P. A. basis.

Feb. 3—Holiday!—First performance.

Feb. 4—Natural instincts break forth! Hi-Y tacky dance. Baby Bohn and Tiny McMath chief hill-billies.

Feb. 10—Sophomores brave the Scotch to give an afternoon dance.

The Perfect Beauty Treatment for Shoes

BEAUTIFUL SHOES are a blessing to your appearance. They'll stay beautiful, too, if you care for them the way you care for your own skin. Brighten your appearance and enhance your charm by using Trimfoot Shoe Cosmetics, the perfect beauty treatment for shoes.

TRIMFOOT WHITE SHOE CREAM (Liquid)

For white kid, calf and fabric shoes. Keeps your shoes "factory fresh" by removing stains as it restores whiteness. Can be polished to high lustre if desired. Will not rub off. Twenty-five cents.

TRIMFOOT WHITE SHOE CREAM (Paste)

For white nappy leather shoes. A beauty treatment for keeping the softest bucks like new by cleaning down under the nap and restoring brilliant whiteness. Will not rub off. Twenty-five cents.

TRIMFOOT BUCK BUFFER

For white buck, suede and fabric shoes. This handy "touch up" cleaner eliminates smudges as quickly as you can comb your hair. Twenty-five cents.

TRIMFOOT NEUTRAL SHOE CREAM (Liquid)

For any color calf or kid leathers. A cream that cleans and softens as it restores the smart lustre of smooth leathers. Ideal for two-toned shoes. Twenty-five cents.
